Featured Letterman
GLENN THOMAS FORD, JR.
1994, 1996, 1997, 1998

It has been 10 years since Glenn Ford played football for the Georgia Bulldogs. Since his time at UGA, Glenn has managed to stay connected to football. He works with RVI Sports Management as an N.F.L. Contract Advisor/Owner, a job he has held for approximately three years. He currently represents five outstanding individuals; Sean Bailey being one of them and looks forward to representing more Bulldogs in the upcoming 2009 draft.

Family life is very important to Glenn. He is married to Ra'Chel C. Ford, "Coggins," who is originally from Dayton, Ohio. Ra'Chel, is currently a regional manager in consumer banking for Bank of America in the Alpharetta, Norcross, Duluth, and Winder areas. They are constantly busy with their five children: Cequanti -14, Glenn III "Trey"-12, Christian - 8, Jordan -7, and Maya -2. All children are involved in sports including football, basketball, baseball, soccer, and gymnastics.

Outside of work, Glenn enjoys playing golf and basketball. He is currently serving as Commissioner for the Southwest Steelers; a youth football program in the Clifondale Community in Atlanta, GA. Southwest Steelers is currently a member of the MAYFL league.

Glenn feels strongly about the time he spent at UGA. He states that one of the fondest memories he has is the friendship and brotherhood that he gained with his entire 1994 freshmen class. He says, "All of the guys were unique and each of them left a lasting memory. I love those guys! Beating Florida on my son Cequanti's birthday, November 1, 1997, was also a great day."

In the future Glenn would like for the Georgia Football Lettermen's Club to have more events at different venues for lettermen to participate. He would also love to see more young lettermen get involved.

Contact Glenn at glennford@rayfordventures.com.
